Christian Refuge

Hello,

Thank you for taking a moment to read this. God gave me a burden for his people When I was around 17. I was raised around men and women of God and loved them. When I prayed for God's direction, He laid it on my heart to build a refuge for them. I was raised in a preacher's home. My dad was a pastor until I was 7 and we went on the road full time as the ministry of helps, building and fixing churches. We sold everything, leaving no home or possessions to fall back on. Five of us moved into a 24 foot Winnebago, with the W on the side. As we traveled and lived with people of God, I saw the battles, sacrifices, hurt and burdens they carried. God burdened my heart to offer a place of healing and refreshing. After working as assistant in three different churches, God has made land available to us for the ministry and a loving and supportive home church to work out of. So, we are building a place for God's people to get the help they need. We are not doing anything new, just trying to preserve old time religion, keep God's people in the ministry, and help birth new ministries.
